Convention Delegates Attend State Conference At Duluth

"A Time for Response" was this year's theme for the 19th Annual Convention of the Minnesota Association of Student Councils (MASC). Attending this year's convention on November 9, 10, and 11, at Duluth were Tom Barger and Bert Heaton, accompanied by Mr. Philip Gustafson, advisor for South St. Paul's Student Council.

Each year every school in Minnesota is entitled to send two delegates who stay in homes of families during the three days the convention lasts.

An election is carried on during the convention, and any school may run for any office (president, vice-president, secretary, or treasurer), but certain responsibilities must be accepted along with these offices. The president, of course, presides over the meetings. The vice-president sends out the Newsletter, informing schools of the convention the following year. The secretary is the host for the next year's convention, and the treasurer handles the money. During the convention, campaigns are carried on constantly with the aid of posters, buttons, etc.

The first day of the convention usually includes registration, a banquet, and a general session at which the president is presented and a speaker gives a speech.

Primary elections and primary voting are usually held the second day, and from this the nominees are reduced to two for each office. General sessions at which a speaker is present are again held this day. Group discussions at which problems concerning Student Council are talked about are also carried on the second day. At night there is usually a dance, and this year, in addition, there was an ice skating party. Through the day, the advisors have a banquet workshop, and business meeting.

The third day begins with final voting, general session, and finally adjournment at about noon.

The delegates return with new and different ideas about Student Council, and hope to better their own Council.

Student Teacher Gains Experience

Miss Kathy Olson, student teacher from Augsburg College, is currently practice teaching at SSPHS. She is teaching two senior social science classes under the direction of Mrs. Alice Jones, and one sophomore world history class under the direction of Mr. Dennis Tetu.

Teaching high school in the Twin Cities area or in a western state is the ambition of Miss Olson, who is a native of Hoffman, Minnesota. In addition to her interest in teaching, she likes golf and other outdoor activities.

Miss Kathryn Olson, student teacher from Augsburg College discusses the presentation of a talk on the Federal Reserve System with Mrs. Alice Jones, senior social studies teacher.

'New Voices' To Be Heard Again

New Voices, the literary magazine of South St. Paul High School, will again be published this year. Co-editors of this year's publication are Eileen Hauck and Debbie Matthews.

The material published in New Voices is submitted by the student body and final selection is made by the staff. Original poems, essays, short stories, and other literary works, should be turned in to Mrs. William Faulkner or the staff.

Upon recommendation by their English teachers, the following students were selected to the 1967-1968 staff: Patrice Andrich, Ken Day, Karen Evenson, Greg Gagnier, Elaine Kegler, Pat Macheel, Tim Pugh, Kris Stover, Stu Waldhauser, and Lynda Zwinger.

New Voices will be sold to the students after its completion in May.

Dick McLain Hurt In Hunting Accident

Richard McLain, a SSPHS junior, is in critical condition at St. Paul - Ramsey County Hospital as the result of a hunting accident on Thursday, November 18.

The Hi Times staff hope that he is feeling better and wish him a quick recovery.

If anyone wants to give a card or note to Dick, send it to: Dick McLain, St. Paul - Ramsey County Hospital, St. Paul, Minnesota. Students may also drop a card in the box under the clock in school. Student Council has set up this box in the hope that many students will send get-well wishes to the injured boy.

AFS student Jean-Noel Fessy can tell a joke in another language besides French, as Debbie Glewwe, left, and Karen Brubakken are discovering. Here he gives the two AFS prospects a briefing on his native land.

AFS Choice Elimination Underway; Two Remain

SSPHS has narrowed down the candidates for the summer exchange program to two juniors—Karen Brubakken and Debra Glewwe.

Applications and information forms concerning these two girls will be sent to the AFS office in New York for final screening. The finalist will be notified shortly after March 1, 1968.

Information which must be sent to New York is quite thorough. It includes family and academic records, recommendations from the students' language teachers, a parents' financial pledge, references, a personality probe, and a lengthy essay. "The applicants practically have to write their own book," said Mr. Philip Gustafson, assistant principal, who is in charge of the program in this school.

Although it has not yet been determined where the SSP exchange student will go, Mr. Gustafson feels it will be somewhere in Europe. Our relations, however, extend throughout the entire Northern Hemisphere. The chosen student will leave in June and return just before the start of school. While overseas, she will stay with a host family in the designated country.

As an exchange student, she will have many responsibilities. She will be a representative of South St. Paul and of America, and must be prepared to tell people about America and answer their questions. Upon her return, she will talk to church groups and other organizations, and will give a program about her host country at a school assembly.

Picture Days Prove Baffling To Students

Daily routine at SSPHS was interrupted recently by picture days for the Kaposia yearbook. Students were able to walk out during class if they were to have a picture taken, although some students left class early and others forgot to come at all, thus causing confusion in the halls, rooms, and the auditorium.

The schedule fell far behind again this year. This could have been avoided if the students would have listened to the directions given by the yearbook staff, according to Lois Glewwe, yearbook editor. Included were such difficult directions as "Print your name" and "Tall ones toward the stage."

A future date will be announced for the retaking of some pictures.

Entire Junior Class Goes On Field Trip

"Harpers Ferry" was attended by all members of the junior class at the Tyrone Guthrie Theater on November 9. Funds for bus fare and tickets were provided by a new Federal program. The junior classes of Ramsey, Hennepin and Dakota counties are included in the project.

Mr. James Lucas, Miss JoAnne DuBois, Mrs. Vera Cziok and Mrs. Lillian Faulkner, junior English teachers at SSPHS, spent a day at the Tyrone Guthrie Theater several weeks before the scheduled date. They were given tapes and copies of the play to prepare the students.

The drama concerns the successful raid on Harpers Ferry, Virginia, 108 years ago, and the eventual crumbling of leader John Brown's forces.

Clubs Stage Dances; Pop Bands Perform

S Club and Packerettes sponsored a basketball game between the WDJ's and the SSPHS faculty. The team included: Mr. Allan Olson, Mr. Roland Olson, Mr. William Wright, Mr. Carl Lehmann, Mr. Philip Gustafson, Mr. Charles Smith, Mr. Dave Glazier, and Mr. Peter Veldman.

The game was played Saturday, November 18, at 7:30 p. m. in the school gymnasium. After the game there was a dance featuring the "Accents." Admission was $1.00 for the game and $1.00 for the dance. This event was a kick-off to the winter sports.

Spanish Club is going to sponsor an AFS dance after the basketball game on December 1. Admission is 75 cents and the "Cellar Full of Noise" will be playing for the entertainment. During intermission, Spanish students will provide some entertainment.

The Spanish Club has invited AFS students from the area schools around us and their Student Councils. Jean-Noel Fessy will be our guest of honor. Spanish Club is putting on the dance to help raise money for the AFS fund.

Journalism Master's 'Beat' Interrupted

This month's Hi Times is the first to be issued without the advice and cooperation of Mr. Allan Gower, English XII and journalism teacher, since the paper originated in 1943. Mr. Gower has been recuperating from an operation and, as the paper went to press, had no definite plans as to when he would be able to return to school.

The Hi Times staff, as well as Mr. Gower's other classes, is looking forward to his return to the classroom.

In Memoriam

South St. Paul High School has been saddened twice recently by the deaths of two of its faithful servants, Mr. Carl V. Dahlberg, a custodian, and Mrs. Lillian Panning, cafeteria manager.

Mr. Dahlberg, who has been a resident of South St. Paul for many years, was a native of Lothrop, Montana. Before joining the South St. Paul school system, he had been employed by Armour and Company. Mr. Dahlberg died after a heart attack which occurred on his way to work.

Mrs. Panning, who recently became SSPHS's cafeteria manager, had been a member of the cafeteria help since 1952. She succumbed after a long bout with illness.

The Hi Times staff wishes to express its sincere sorrow to the surviving members of Mrs. Panning's and Mr. Dahlberg's families.

Yearbook co-editor Sandy Toth adds up the cash from another day of Kaposia sales.

A Matter Of Ideology

"In the most advanced countries, the following measures will be pretty generally applicable:

- 1) Abolition of property in land and application of all rents of land to public purposes.
- 2) A heavy progressive or graduated income tax.
- 3) Abolition of all right of inheritance.
- 4) Confiscation of the property of all emigrants and rebels.
- 5) Centralization of credit in the hands of the state, by means of a national bank with state capital and an exclusive monopoly.
- 6) Centralization of the means of communication and transport in the hands of the state.
- 7) Extension of factories and instruments of production owned by the state.
- 8) Equal obligation of all to work.
- 9) Gradual abolition of all the distinction between town and country by an equable distribution of the population over the country.
- 10) Free education for all children in public schools."

I am indebted to Karl Marx and Frederic Engels for the above ideas, which are contained in the Communist Manifesto.

However, I don't especially care for the idea calling for the abolition of private property, property which I may have worked very hard to obtain; I don't like the idea of losing my inheritance to the state, for it to reappportion at will; likewise, I don't like the idea of confiscating the property of anybody — that seems to be a cruel and unusual punishment; and I can't see why America should forsake its banking system, which has given it one of the most stable and affluent economies in the world.

Correct me if I'm wrong, but why should the government have control of communications, since it invariably leads to thought control. Lastly, I wonder why there must be equal obligation of all to work, since I am: 1) notoriously lazy, or 2) hard driving and possessed of a mania to get a little bit ahead in this world.

"What other ideas of Messrs. Marx and Engels rankle me so?" It might be these words, "The immediate aim of the Communists is: Formation of the proletariat into a class, overthrow of the bourgeois supremacy, conquest of political power by the proletariat . . . to attain these ends by peaceful means . . . are necessarily doomed by failure."

The war in Vietnam seems to be one in which the U.S.A. and others are fighting to keep this ideology from one day being thrust upon its peoples. The way in which it should be fought is one of conjecture, but I, for one, do not doubt that we should be there.

Are You A 'Real' Person?

High school students of today have been charged with being conformists; in some respects this title may be quite appropriate.

There are many cases when a boy or girl goes along with the crowd just so he will be accepted by his friends. The boy may smoke or drink with his group so that he will be "cool" like all the others. A girl may listen to all sorts of gossip, and agree with all the insults she hears, never speaking up to say that the gossip may not be true — just because her group of so called friends might cut her down if she does disagree.

Many people are too worried about what others think and say. Sure, all of us like to be popular with many people, but sacrificing what is morally right is not the answer to popularity. Being pleasant to all persons that one is involved with, but also being firm in saying "No!" to something that one believes is wrong will gain much more of the respect that people desire in life.

In other words, being a "real" person — a person who is not putting on an act of "coolness" or cockiness or friendliness, but who is truly interested in the lives of other people, who says what he believes, yet tries to speak of the good in people instead of their faults — this person is the one people will enjoy being with the most in the long run.

Most of the students in our school are genuinely interested in other people, yet some do seem to just go along with the bunch. If you have been a crowd follower, why not consider making a change? Decide now to do and say what you really believe!

Jen's Jabber

Smile, You Sophomores!

by Jennifer Luhrs

I'm surprised you're even reading my column this month. Last month's closing statement was pretty dumb. It didn't even sound like a closing statement. As a matter-of-fact, it wasn't a closing statement; but the printers had to cut something out so everything else would fit. Naturally they took out the most worthless jabber.

Heading the agenda of worthless information is EMWS. These letters stand for the Early Mistletoe Warning System. If put into effect early enough, it can counteract BCMT. For the sophomores' information, BCMT means Boycott Mistletoe. It's a club led by boys who are afraid that they won't be asked to Mistletoe; and who claim they wouldn't go even if they were asked. Only early chasing can prevent the man of your dreams from falling into the evil clutches of this natsy organization.

On a more serious note, I would like to comment on School Spirit. School Spirit is a funny little guy. He can slip through your fingers very easily. He can also stick with a team that starts the season by losing and ends up beating the "Number 1" team in the state. He makes a lot of noise when he cheers in the stands, and he cheers especially loud for a friend of his on the team called Desire. All the ability in the world can't replace Desire. With School Spirit and Desire on its side, South St. Paul should be first in state in EVERYTHING.

I know this has nothing to do with what I've been talking about, but why don't the sophomores smile on their group pictures for the yearbook? Wait until the yearbook comes out. The sophomore pictures always look like mug shots. They can't be touched up either, like the seniors' pictures, which all make us look about fifty times better than we really are. A good thing for the sophomores to remember next year is to stand next to someone who's uglier than you. Of course, sometimes it's hard to find anyone uglier.

In closing, I have a message that several members of the third lunch period group would like me to convey to you. Please raise your hand when they take the lunch count if you are eating in the cafeteria. They seem to run low on food around the third lunch period and nobody wants green-beans for dessert. If you don't have the third lunch period, raise your hand anyway for some unfortunate who does.

Of course, these unfortunates are lucky to even have the third lunch period. There are people starving all over the world, you know. Be thankful this Thanksgiving.

SOUND OFF!

Hey, kids, what's wrong with the pep fests at the assemblies? Well, nothing's wrong with the cheering — on the cheerleaders' part, but how come you students just sit there? Are the cheerleaders jumping and yelling for their health? NO! They support the school, and it is your duty to do the same. Everyone says, "Well, the kid next to me never cheers, and I feel dumb!" Some excuse. The kid who isn't cheering is the one who should feel dumb! School spirit has been terrific so far this year. In fact, we predict it to hit an all time high. And you can do it. YES, YOU! If no one cheers at the pep fests, they will be discontinued and you'll be "back to class in 5 minutes" all that much sooner.

So, it is up to you to show your school spirit and cheer really loud at the pep fests. Can you do it? We'll see.

P.S. Sophs, this doesn't mean only you. Seniors and juniors are included too.

A Pep Fest Fan

Dear Editors,

There's something that really bugs me about the students of our school. They always have to give you their personal opinion of the way you dress, act, speak, look, etc. It seems the favorite sport of this school is cutting people down! I would like to tell these superior people to buzz off, because I couldn't care less what they think of me and everyone else "below" them. So, why can't they keep their insults to themselves? I do.

The Miller

HI STYLE

by Mary Lou Christianson

Current trends including kilts for girls and fisherman knits for both girls and guys are just right for school wear. Dressing up last year's dark-colored pantsuit with a lacy, ruffled blouse or mixing wool with corduroy in pantsuits is an English trick.

Have you heard about the IT dress? Simple to sew, with a high neck, front zipper, and huge front pockets, it can be trimmed with a crazy braid, worn with a scarf, or belted.

Here's a fashion preview: Short, puffy, and girlish are the newest fashion words for spring dresses, chalked up as the shortest yet; made to be worn with tights which not only look great, but are a must.

As usual, your teen council representatives have been doing remarkable things. The winners of the Dayton's Bobby Brooks contest held last month were both from SSPHS; Jennie Luhrs won first prize as Dayton's representative to Seventeen Magazine. Both girls will have a chance to win a trip to New York in competition with girls all over the United States.

Patty Andrich recently designed a Halloween store window through her teen board at Field Schlick, the scene of a current exciting happening, The Hole in the Wall, a new, petite accessory shop on the third floor in the Junior Rendezvous department.

Night Life Fades During November

by Trisha Sweeney

The month of November is usually characterized by the general absence of entertainment for high school students. In the past the lack of sport events was somewhat made up for by the existence of the Klub, which, though not the hottest night spot in the Twin Cities, at least provided a place to meet with friends. This year, with no Klub and a school which sponsors about as many dances as Nazareth Hall, the night life situation is becoming desperate. Other than Freddie's (which despite a "Ladies Welcome" sign is not exactly the favorite hang-out for girls) and the Pizza Villa there is just no place for kids to go.

It is an unhappy fact that SSP doesn't seem to care enough for its surprisingly well-behaved youth (I say surprisingly because other towns with the same lack of entertainment have a greater problem controlling their youth) to provide something for them to do at night. Cheer up though, hockey and basketball seasons are approaching.

This column has been entirely too serious, now I will turn to the lighter subject of what has been happening in SSP lately.

Halloween provided several students with a chance to go trick or treating. One group invaded the homes of several favorite teachers such as Mr. Carl Lehmann and Mr. Julian Arnquist.

On Sundays the latest pastime has been ice skating at Wakota Arena. Despite the hazards of falling basketball players and hip-checking hockey players the rink is crowded with high school students as well as adults and small children.

By the way, the entire school rejoices in the news of a renewal (or should I say relapse) of the outstanding hockey games that Murr's Boys and Milbert's Maulers provided last year. Mark Stassen, the unnamed team's self-appointed spokesman predicted an exciting and victorious season despite the challenge presented by their arch-rival (also their only rival) a team made up of members of the class of '67.

SSP Teachers Study In Bogs and Institute

Mr. Charles R. Anderson, biology teacher at SSPHS, recently spent six weeks in the Wisconsin bog country on a University of Minnesota Research Grant. The research grant was sponsored by the National Science Foundation. The title of his research is the Ecology of Fresh Water Stream Invertebrates. He will be getting students involved in this research as soon as materials and apparatus arrive.

Miss Kathryn McAuliff, a U. S. History teacher at SSPHS, attended the Robert Taft Institute of Government at Macalester College last summer.

The three week session, financed by the Robert Taft Memorial, was attended by twenty-five social studies teachers from Minnesota and neighboring states.

Classes were conducted every morning, followed by guest speakers including Senator Eugene McCarthy, and former congressman Dr. Walter Judd.

Jim Van Horn gives three new French Clubbers a test during a hectic moment of the French Club initiation.

Routine Business Marks Student Council Agenda

by Jane Winkel

With Homecoming gloriously out of the way, Student Council has to concern itself with evaluation and regular business.

Council worked for two weeks on Homecoming evaluation. Some of the suggested improvements for next year were:

1. Cafeteria should be open on Homecoming day for those living far from school.
2. Homecoming activities should be extended over a three day period.
3. Skits should be in better taste with more plot.
4. A jazz band, a fast band, or just a better slow band should be hired.

An assembly committee, with Fred Kenady as chairman, has been looking into possibilities of future assemblies, in addition to the lyceum assemblies. A drivers' education program put on by Chrysler Corporation, weight-lifting demonstrations, a judo expert, and a musical program from Hamline University have been suggested.

Several council members will be attending conventions and local meetings. Cathy Frisch and Dick Todd attended a discussion meeting November 4 at Alexander Ramsey High School for the planning of a possible Suburban Conference Student Council. Bert Heaton and Tom Barger represented South St. Paul at the Minnesota State Student Council convention held November 9-11 in Duluth.

To all the hardy South St. Paul popcorn fans, we are sorry to announce the fact that Student Council has passed a measure raising the price of popcorn to 15 cents.

The problem of defacing various club posters has been brought to the attention of Student Council. It was decided that something must be done in the line of punishment. Some suggestions were to give detention to those who were caught or to have them make a poster to replace the one they wrote on. After much discussion, the penalty of 100 minutes detention was agreed upon and from now on will be enforced. This is a fair punishment when you consider the time and effort that is put into most of the posters.

Mistletoe Coming To Hilton Hotel Shortly

The annual Mistletoe Ball will be held at the St. Paul Hilton Hotel on December 28 from 9:00 p. m. to 12:00 p. m.

As in the past, the girls invite boys to escort them to the dance. Girls, there is still time to catch the boy you want as your date!

Jack Gable and his band will provide the entertainment for this gala event. Pictures will be taken by Milton Craighead at a cost of $5.00 for any interested couples.

Tickets may be obtained from any Job Daughter or De Molay member at $3.50 per couple. For any extra information contact Debbie Needham, publicity chairman.

by Ladean Meyer

As October drew to a close, so did GAA's tennis competition. The results in the singles events were as follows:

- first place—Diane Gilbert
- second place—Linda Fischbach
- third place—Jan Bevan

The doubles results were as follows:

- first—Barb Lang and Wendy Grunewald
- second—Jan Bevan and Kathy Bonk
- third—Kathy Kosowski and Renee Sharrow.

Each Thursday the girls board a school bus and are taken to Packer Lanes where they participate in bowling in teams of four. They will play for five weeks at which time the team with the best score will be given pins.

This year GAA has again chosen names for their teams and as usual they are characteristic of the kind of enthusiasm shown by these girls. Such names as Jayne Kachman's Calamity Janes, Kay Stanford's Kapital Kays, Kathy Pawlenty's Kathy's Klan, Rose Jacovitch's Rosie's Raiders, Sue Messenger's Susie's Senders, and Sandy Sobaski's Sandie's Stompers will be heard often throughout the school year in speaking of the various GAA activities.

Resolved:

Debaters To Dissent On Investigation Techniques

While other classrooms echo with the battles of the Revolution or the controversial comma, Room 125 has its own little war every day. It is here that Mr. Carl Lehmann's SSPHS debaters meet to argue about this year's national topic — resolved: that Congress should establish uniform regulations to control criminal investigation procedures.

Work began last spring when the students read court cases, magazine articles and newspaper clippings concerning all aspects of own cases — gathering evidence the topic. For the last few weeks they have been working on their cards which will help them prove their points in actual competition.

The first tournament was held at Sibley high school on October 19. Trips to Paynesville and Richfield have also aided the debaters in gaining experience and new ideas. Each Saturday from now until the middle of March a different contest will be entered. Regional contests are then held and state competition follows.

Although speech students do not have to begin preparations as early in the year as debaters, they too are busy writing or finding orations and poems, and practicing the finer points of speaking with Mr. Raymond Happe.

The first tournament was held November 11 in St. Cloud, Minnesota where competition involved state-wide representation. Each week the speakers will travel somewhere in the state, practicing for district and regional contests.

Whether involving controversy over the Miranda case or an interpretation of Robert Frost's "Birches", both departments are looking forward to a profitable year.

Distributors' Club

Recently elected officers are Bonnie Griffin, president; Janice Gotthelf, vice-president; Jean Kiesow, secretary; Beverly Ringwelski, treasurer; Robert Campbell, parliamentarian; and Cindy Schema, historian. Distributors' Club plans to attend the DECA delegate assembly to be held at the Holiday Inn at Minneapolis.

Ushers' Club

This year's president is Marlowe Francis; vice-president is Jeff Milbert. Soon after sophomore orientation, four boys and four girls will be chosen and initiated into Ushers' Club.

FTA

The executive board of officers met October 9 to discuss future plans. The first meeting was held October 16 in the audio-visual room. Guest speaker was Mr. Phillip Gustafson, assistant principal at SSPHS, who spoke on "Innovations in Teaching." Meetings will be held on the first and the third Monday of every month.

At the last meeting on November 6, Miss Mary Williamson spoke about her trip to the Ozarks. She also answered questions directed to her by FTA members on college. Plans for a money-making event are in the process.

French Club

Interested in taking a trip to New Orleans? Forty third and fourth year students may be able to do just that during Easter vacation. Money raising projects for the journey will include selling Christmas and all-occasion cards.

Spanish Club

The pow-wow held at Minnehaha Park in Minneapolis was a great success according to Anne Andrich, president of the club. Initiation included walking in cold spaghetti and eating cauliflower with ketchup. Just elected were three new officers to help govern Spanish Club. They are JoEllen Glewwe, vice-president; Eileen Hauck, secretary; Sue Ayres, treasurer. For the next month, plans include attending the Festival of Nations in St. Paul, making pinatas, and hearing a guitarist at Northrup Auditorium. More candy sales are also planned.

Science Club

Mary Rollins was recently elected president; Brad Goudy will serve as vice-president in this year's Science Club; Mike Jorgenson will be the secretary-treasurer. Activities for this year will include maintaining a laboratory and animals, helping set up lab experiments, and establishing science projects for the Science Fair held in the spring.

Pep Club

The 120 member club, led by mascots Barb Wojack and Carol Sahli, has been busy with projects promoting school spirit.

Posters, flyers, and a rooting section at football games are a part of this program.

Girls' League

"The sale of mums was a big success," stated President Vicki Boatman at the Girls' League meeting held October 17.

Plans for November include a food drive to provide needy families in the area with a Thanksgiving dinner.

"S" Club

Newly elected officers of "S" Club are: Jim LeClair, president; Wayne Price, vice president; Rick Moquist, secretary; and Fred Kenady, treasurer.

Initiation of new members is planned for November. Plans for a dinner this fall are also in the making.

Scribes

Officers elected for 1967-68 at the October meeting of Scribes were as follows: Zoe Freiling, president; Sue Folkerts, vice president; Karen Brubakken, secretary; and Julie Sarafolean, treasurer.

Plans for November include a "crackerbarrel" discussion to explore local interests.

"The membership is small, but very enthusiastic," stated Miss Kathryn McAuliff, the club's advisor.

DAVI

Paul Hansen was elected president at the October meeting with Jayne Kackman and Don Bjorkman chosen vice president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

A field trip to Macalester College and fund raising projects are just a few of the activities planned for the coming year.

With kids wanting more student participation, SSPHS seniors were asked: "If you could have the run of the school for one day, what would you do?"

Paul Miller—"Make Mr. Carl Lehmann principal."

Carol Sahli—"I'd let the third lunch period have the first lunch so they can get some food."

Bruce Glewwe—"Have all the study halls report to the stage for free swinging."

Greg Fiebing—"I don't know. I'm apathetic."

Doug Hill—"I'd get rid of apathetic people!"

Jean-Noel Fessy—"Sleep."

Tom Gilde—"Give myself a three week vacation."

Jane Winkel—"I'd play hide-and-go-seek and sleep in the bathroom on the third floor WW."

Linda Sutherland—"I'd play with Jane."

Band Organizes

Recent elections in band yielded the following officers: president, Bill Macheel; vice president, Kent Christopherson; secretary, Patty Andrich; treasurer, Jeri Peterson; publicity chairman, Pam McNeilly; uniform custodians, Karen Turnblom and Greg Corteau.

This year will be an active year for the band, according to Mr. Ed Anderson, the director. In March, SSPHS will play host to the south half of our district for the state band contest.

Following football and hockey seasons, the band will concentrate on perfecting music for the spring concert.

As anticipation over the SSP-St. Cloud Tech game nears, cheerleaders (l to r) Vicki Boatman, Jean Kosowski, Kyle Robertson, and Ladean Meyer prepare posters to support the football team. They must have helped — South St. Paul won, 14-7.

Gridmen Even Record; Score Big Upset

MOUNDS VIEW
Eighth-rated Mounds View was defeated 14-12 at the hands of the much smaller Packers.

The Packers scored two touchdowns in the second quarter after Mounds View had opened the scoring with a TD by Joe Lukaska from the 1-yard line. A 2-yard TD drive by Dale Abram and a conversion by Wayne Price brought the Packers out in front 7-6. The Packers soon increased their lead to 14-6 when Rick Moquist intercepted a Mustang pass, ran 15 yards to pay dirt, and Price kicked his second PAT.

Mounds View's second TD came in the third quarter on a 33-yard run by Bob Stromberg.

The Packer defense allowed no further scoring, and thus preserved the victory.

WEST ST. PAUL
Bert Heaton, junior tailback, led the Packers to a 20-0 win over the Warriors.

Heaton's three touchdowns and a tight defense led the Packers to their second shutout of the season. Heaton's first TD came in the first quarter on a 15-yard run. Wayne Price kicked the PAT. Heaton scored twice more to increase the lead to 20-0.

SSP thus broke even with a 4-4 record, and had the satisfaction of holding down one of the best rushers and passers in the Suburban, Sibley quarterback Jim Gehrke.

ST. CLOUD TECH
The Packer grid team showed their fathers and an enthusiastic crowd the right way to finish off a football season by beating the Wayne Price to Paul Miller. Price's follow-up conversion made it 7-0.

The Tigers evened the count on the very next series. The TD play was a touchdown pass that fooled the Packer defense completely.

SSP's winning TD came with less than two minutes left in the game. Price threw his second TD pass, this time from the 5-yard line into the end zone to wingback Rick Moquist. Price then completed the scoring with his second conversion.

RESUME OF THE 1967 GRID SEASON

SSP thus finished the grid season with a victory, a 5-4 record, winning 5 out of their last 6 games, and finishing sixth in the conference. Wayne Price and Jim

Re-MARKS

Plenty of profound, prophetic, poisonous, and practically pathetic print proceeds to publication in this provocative portion of Packer paper penmanship.

Now that the fall sports season has come to a close, it's time to analyze the play and distribute credit where credit is due.

First of all, credit goes to the head coaches and their assistants for the important role they played in developing teams whose performances were outstanding, even though their conference records may not have shown it.

Next in line for a spoonful of compliments are all of the boys who tried out for the football and cross country teams . . . for their contribution to the competitive spirit that builds a good team.

When we're handing out compliments, we can't forget those lovely and vivacious leaders of cheer and school spirit. I must, however, reserve the right to change this opinion if the need arises.

Last in line for the compliments and thanks are the hundreds of students that may have lacked the ability to actively participate in the sports, but continued to be avid supporters of the teams . . . an essential part of a successful season.

On the chilly night of November the 3rd, the Packers played their finest game of the season to take an impressive decision over the number 1 team in the state, St. Cloud Tech. Not only was the victory impressive for the Packers, it also continued to build the reputation of the Suburban Conference. I'm sure the whole school liked the great finish that the players put on this football season.

The cross-country team, running stronger than ever, fell short of qualifying for the region or state meets, but are optimistically looking forward to another improved season next year.

With the ice on the windshields of the senior cars, the appearance of letter jackets on juniors, and the empty sophomore bike rack, our thoughts now turn to winter sports.

Winter is probably the most active time for sports competition in the school. With three sports and swimming, there is plenty of excitement for all. It looks like a winning season all around.

The hockey team, led by Mr. Charles Smith, is looking for a conference championship and a berth in this year's state tourney. Predictions: 15 wins - 1 loss (margin of error); first in conference.

The basketball team this year is made up of players who have been waiting for this year for about five years or more and a few newcomers who should help the team to the state tourney. Predictions: 12 wins - 2 losses; second in conference.

The wrestling team, led by Mr. William Wright, will have a tough time matching the record of the hockey or basketball teams this year, because they don't have that many matches. You can expect the grapplers to have a respectable season, and they will probably send three or four boys to the state tournament. Predictions: 8 wins - 3 losses; fourth in conference.

I don't know what can be said about swimming. They have an experienced school of fish this year, so they at least know how to float. If Mr. Julian Arnquist can keep his team afloat, they should finish the season. Predictions: 5 wins - 4 losses; fifth in conference.

If the desire of the football team (the team that played the last five games) can be injected into the winter sportsters, we can expect to send representatives to the state in all sports.

Wayne Price

Packer Profile

The Packer Profile for November is Wayne Price, All-conference football player for SSPHS. Wayne has played on the varsity football team for the past two years. In the final football game of the season, he threw the two touchdown passes that led the Packers to an upset win over St. Cloud Tech.

Wayne also participates in varsity basketball and baseball.

When he is not throwing passes on the gridiron, Wayne may be seen performing his duties as "S" club vice president.

Although his future plans are not yet definite, Wayne will attend college to further his education.

Glazier Asks For A Larger JV Turnout

This year approximately 20 boys participated as members of the Junior Varsity team. However, Coach Glazier hopes that in future years more boys will take advantage of this opportunity to play football and compete interscholastically.

Junior Varsity Football teams were first introduced to the Suburban Conference in 1964. The basic objective behind the organization of the Junior Varsity team is to give those 11th and 12th grade boys, who do not compete regularly in varsity competition, an opportunity to participate in interscholastic football.

According to Junior Varsity coach, Mr. Dave Glazier, "It is hoped that this opportunity will encourage greater participation of junior and senior boys in football, even though they may not have a great deal of previous football experience."

Sophs Sweep By Grid Opponents

SSP's B-squad grid team played very well this year, tying for the Suburban Conference championship with a 5-1-1 record.

35	North St. Paul
7	West St. Paul
42	Hastings
14	Stillwater
21	Mounds View
39	Kellogg

Since the team South St. Paul tied with for the Suburban championship was Kellogg, a logical conclusion would be that the Packers were the best in the Conference.

There were several outstanding members on the S-squad which should bring happiness to Coach Silianoff, but three particular members who finished off the latter part of the season with the varsity should certainly be cited. They are Glenn Novack, tailback; Mike McMorrow, fullback; and Bill Lesch, end. These three boys had an excellent record of rushing, passing, and pass receiving under the coaching of Don Jacobson and his assistant, Bill Wright.

All-conference linebacker Jim LeClair's eye seems to have been caught by the photographer. That's hardly likely, however, since the tackling of a Mounds View back seems to be the most pressing business at hand. The Packers won, too, 14-12.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS
Columbia Heights won the Suburban Conference championship in an exciting 13-7 victory over the Packers on the Hylanders' field.

Heights scored first in the third quarter after a first-half defensive battle. Bob Aasen ran through the SSP defense for the 8-yard TD.

Aasen also scored the second Heights TD. Dan Thul scored the PAT, increasing the Hylander lead to 13-0.

The Packers got on the board with only minutes remaining in the game. Jim Van Horn picked up a Hylander fumble and ran it 32 yards for the TD; Wayne Price then kicked the conversion to finish the scoring.

Mentor Praises Soccer Interest

"They had great enthusiasm and we're looking forward to next year." These were the comments of Coach Peter Locke in reference to this year's soccer team. Mr. Locke also mentioned the great turnout this year and the sincere interest in SSPHS's newest sport.

The soccer team met Brady in the second grueling game of their season. Bob Norman scored for the Packers but it didn't seem quite enough as the Packers lost the hard fought game 2-1. Commenting after the game Jim Entgelmeier said, "In this game we were really more organized than in the first and played as a team rather than as individuals."

In their final game the Packer footsters played St. Paul Johnson. Improvement showed as the Packers held the Govies to a 1-1 tie. Scoring for the Packers in this game was junior Bill Shepard.

Hopes for next year include a longer season, both an "A" and "B" squad, and uniforms.

Packer Coaches Give Encouraging Forecasts

WRESTLING

"The test of the first couple of matches against Anoka and Columbia Heights, two of the toughest teams in the conference, should give a good indication of the caliber of our team," said Coach Bill Wright.

Led by Russ Wollin, Mike Higgins, Jim LeClair, and Jim Van Horn, who are expected to be consistent winners, the grapplers should have as good a chance for the conference championship as any other team.

Mr. Wright expects to have three or four of his grapplers in the state tourney. Hastings, Anoka, and Columbia Heights are the teams rated by him to beat.

BASKETBALL

"This year's team should be one of the best in the conference." So says Mr. Donald McLain, head basketball coach, when speaking of the varsity basketball team.

With three starters, Bill Macheel, Rick Moquist, and Brian O'Boyle, returning from last year's squad, the Packers should be one of the most experienced teams in the league. Jim Wallace, a transfer student from Tennessee, will add extra scoring punch.

Coach McLain stated that Columbia Heights, Anoka, and Stillwater along with SSP should be the powers of the Suburban Conference.

SWIMMING

The SSPHS swimming team opens its season November 30, with a meet against the Parkers of St. Paul Park.

With eleven lettermen returning from last year's squad, Coach

Julian Arnquist feels that he will have an "above average" team.

Heading the list of lettermen will be Dale Mazar, who was one of the outstanding swimmers in the conference last year. Dale will probably compete in the individual medley and the 100-yard butterfly, but could be called on to swim in nearly any event. A few other swimmers to watch are Steve Bauer and Bill Weber in the freestyle; Bert Heaton, breast-stroke; and Greg Onischuk, diver.

Mr. Arnquist rated Stillwater and Mounds View as the teams to beat in the conference, with Ramsey and North St. Paul also among the powerhouses.

HOCKEY

"Barring any unforeseen misfortunes we have an excellent chance to go all the way." This was Coach Charles Smith's comment when asked about the upcoming season. "This year's team will have good scoring balance, so the pressure may fall on the defense," Smith added. Tim Egan and Mike Bonk, a couple of juniors, will be counted on heavily this year. A successful season may also require a better than average year in the nets for goalie Dan Koich.

Mr. Smith rated Anoka and Mounds View as two of the conference's top teams. White Bear, Ramsey, North St. Paul, and West St. Paul are always threats.
